Creativity, research and strong communication skills are cornerstones of my work. With a broad client base my technical and historical knowledge of glass allows me to sympathetically design work for all architectural situations.

Enthusiastic, knowledgeable and always willing to expand on my existing repertoire of skills I am passionate about my craft and the boundless possibilities it holds to visually enhance the built environment.

I work in the area of new commissions and restorations, for a client base that ranges from private householders and businesses to public bodies including educational and ecclesiastical establishments.
